Era of Good Feelings

The time period when the Democratic-Republican party was the only political party in America. It was a time of good feelings due to national unity & improvements being made in the country.

- The U.S. became more unified.
- North, South, & West pulled together
- Feelings of Nationalism & Patriotism

The U.S. President James Monroe

Henry Clay proposed “The American System” (roads, bridges, canals)

Transportation Revolution (steamboat, Erie Canal, Railroads)

Industrial Revolution (first mills & factories)

Erie Canal connected New York with the Great Lakes. NYC became a major center for commerce & trade.
James Monroe

Everyone getting along
Only 1 political party (Democratic-Republicans)

Patriotism & Nationalism

Transportation Revolution
Erie Canal

Transportation Revolution
Railroads

Industrial Revolution
Mills & Factories

Transportation Revolution - Steamboats